

Contents

Author's Note	vii
Introduction: The Answers	1
Laugh, Love, and Buy More Underwear	2
Make Time for You	6
Help Your Whole Being	12
Maintain Strong Relationships	20
Support Children	22
The Mega Answer List	29
Chapter One: Planning the Rendezvous	35
Reflecting on Your Experience	40
Getting Ready for the Big Day	44
What to Expect in the First Days	49
A New Beginning	59
Chapter Two: Learning to Dance Again	61
Different Worlds	67
Intimacy	70
New Kind of Communication	73
New Routines	75
Rebuilding Relationships Through the Changes	77
When Is It Time to Seek Help?	80
Happy Reunions	81
Chapter Three: Stress and Other Things We Worry About	83
What Service Members Need to Adjust at Home	85
Getting Help	88

Anger	88
Anxiety	90
Depression	91
Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder	93
Kid Stress	99
Benefits of Talking with a Chaplain	101
Chapter Four: Caregiving and Grief	109
Caregiver Perspective	110
Grief Perspective	112
Common Symptoms of Grief	130
Working Through Grief	132
A Few Things I Have Learned	137
Chapter Five: Continuing the Journey	143
Much of Life is Perspective	144
Rebuilding with Your Spouse	146
Creating Trust with Children	146
Connecting with Teens	148
Exploring New Relationships Between Parents and Service Members	149
Coping with News of a Pending Deployment or Feelings About Going Back	150
The Next Chapter in the Journey	153
Appendix: Resources for Your Happily Ever After	155
Deployment and Reunion	155
Military Family Centers and Support Groups	158
General Military Life	159
Associations and Support Services	162
Service Branches	163
Military Services Relief Societies	164
Parenting	165
Anger, Depression, Stress, and PTSD	166
Living with Injuries	168
Death and Grief	171
Hotlines and Community Resources	177
Peer Military Groups and Veteran's Organizations	179